For over 20 years, the California Chamber Symphony has been a vital force in creative programming at UCLA. Under the leadership of founder/director Henri Temianka, the organization has benefited audiences and artists alike. As the only ongoing chamber orchestra performing at UCLA for many years, they filled a gap felt not only at the university, but in the community as well. By actively seeking new audiences and exposing them to a high level of artistic excellence, they have succeeded in creating an organization committed to the cultural enlightenment of today's youth. The list of outstanding guest performers who have appeared with the California Chamber Symphony is proof that they have succeeded.
